

SAMPLE DOCUMENT - AiventX Web Lab

This file is generated sample material. It contains no client data, no measured results and no pricing. It exists so the structure of the document can be reviewed, and so download tracking can be tested against a file of known, stable size.

AIO readiness checklist

1. Fetchability

- Main answer present in the initial HTML response
- No login, cookie or interaction required to reach the answer
- robots.txt allows fetching; indexability handled separately

2. Answer structure

- A direct answer appears before supporting detail
- Headings describe the question being answered
- Tables and lists carry the comparable facts

3. Evidence

- Sources are linked next to the claim they support
- Last updated date is visible and accurate
- The responsible author or project is identifiable

4. Consistency

- Structured data matches the visible content
- The page does not contradict itself
- Canonical, title and main heading describe one topic
